

TRURO PUBLIC LIBRARY NEWS

The Library staff would like to thank everyone for the many kindnesses extended after the sad passing of our friend and colleague, Sharon Sullivan. Truro is a wonderful, kind community; and the thoughtful words and gestures have been a source of comfort.

Works by artist Kenneth Hawkey will be displayed in the Anne H. Brock Community Room during the month of September.

Will Oxtoby's photographs are on display on the Lower Level of the Library.

The Library offers 24/7 WiFi access that can be enjoyed from the back deck or from one of the seating areas around the building.

If you are desperate for a book, and you know the Library is closed, we have something for you. We have a repurposed bird feeder in front of the Library that the Friends of the Truro Library will keep stocked with a small selection of books. Help yourself, read it, and pass it on.

The Truro Library is now on Facebook®. If you like us, then please “like” us.

Birding for Beginners: Birding the Library's Backyard

Do you enjoy wildlife and nature but wouldn't consider yourself a “birder?” In this one-hour workshop, a Mass Audubon naturalist will introduce the outdoor-loving families to the basics of bird watching. Learn how to adjust your binoculars, use your field guide, and identify common Cape Cod birds as we step outside the Library's front (or back) doors. In case of rain, an indoor presentation will be substituted. Binoculars and field guides will be available to borrow. This program is supported in part by a grant from the Truro Cultural Council, a local agency, which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a State agency.

Wednesday, September 25, 6:30 p.m.

Author Juliette Fay, the author of Shelter Me, Shortest Way Home, and Deep Down True will give a presentation.
