

Truro Central School PUMA PAGE

May 2014

Be A Champion Reader Update: WE DID IT!

As of May 31, TCS students achieved their goal of reading 1,000 books!

Because we met our school wide goal, students will receive a special prize. On one day in June, PE teacher Arlene Estey will hold PE classes at Great Hollow Beach. Students will participate in group games followed by choice time. This will include a beach art activity with art teacher Kim Possee.

Congratulations Champs!

STOP! Name Your Feeling...Calm Down

At our May All-School Meeting, the Fourth Grade performed their rendition of the song "Calm It Down". Students wrote the introductions, choreographed and designed the set and props for this upbeat song that teaches children how to manage strong feelings and emotions.

Students have been working with Nancy Winslow, school counselor, on this important skill through a social skills curriculum called Second Step.

Pig Roast & Clam Bake Fundraiser

Support & Celebrate

The School Garden
at Truro Central School

Truro's Own Food
and Wine

at The Truro Vineyards of Cape Cod

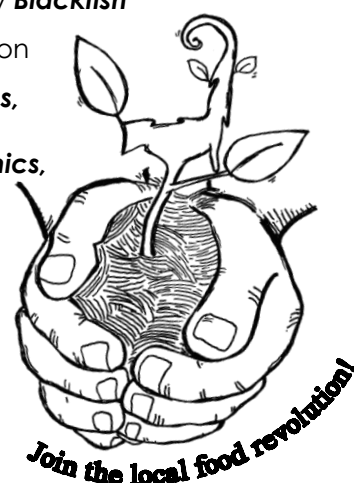

Friday, June 20, 2014

6:30-9:30 pm

- Featuring farm to table food prepared by Blackfish
- Truro Vineyards wine available by donation
- Special thanks to: Ceraldi's, Hillside Farms, Dave's Greens, Out There Organics, Highland Star Organics, Cape Cod Organics, Wild Truro, Chequeset Chocolate
- Enjoy live music by Old Brown Shoe
- Silent Auction featuring local artisans

Tickets: $65 per person seating limited

Call Helen Grimm at 508.487.1558 x-205
Or email: grimmh@truromass.org

Please join us for a magical evening of local food, wine and music. Enjoy succulent pig from Hillside Farms roasted by Truro's Blackfish and served along side local clams and seasonal harvests from our neighborhood farms. Sip wine by lantern light on the pavilion at Truro Vineyards and enjoy the mandolin sound and beautiful vocals of Old Brown Shoe.

The School Gardens, Farmer in the School and Farm to School Programs at Truro Central School are community endeavors. They teach about agriculture, health, science, art, nature, stewardship, and the value of working with each other. They provide hands-on, kid-centered opportunity for observation, learning and doing. We seek to empower Truro's youth with an understanding of the connections between our local food resources, and individual/community health and wellness. In an effort to reinforce the important themes of community and sustainability, TCS purchases food from local harvesters and growers and we are beginning to grow our own food and compost our food waste. However, without community support our school garden program would not be possible.

Donations for our fundraiser will be used to create an irrigation system and more raised beds, help fund our Farmer in the School Program and to purchase fruit trees for a school orchard.